The Second Decade

2009 marked the beginning of the second decade for KWMR, “the little station that could” - and does. While financial challenges still abound, we are sincerely appreciative of our wonderfully supportive community. Our donations were down slightly from the previous year, but considering the state of the economy, we were pleased to end the year with revenue slightly ahead of expenses. We thank you for keeping KWMR “top of mind” when it came to both listening – and making the decision to donate!

Our pledge drives brought many of you into the station to pledge and/or answer phones. With gratitude we also acknowledge those of you within the community who additionally support our effort by providing many meals and tasty treats. Likewise, volunteers made our events – Sweethearts of the Radio, the May art show at Toby's, and the Far West Fest, a great success. Such generosity of spirit is what makes KWMR the community treasure it is and always will be.

Programming in 2009, we:

Strengthened our bilingual and Spanish language programs with the parenting program “Nuestros niños,” and the language lesson series “Palabra del dia/Word of the Day”;
Began development of a series following youth in the environment, “Youth Inside/Outside”;
Added science programming with “Hot Tech/Cool Science”;
Brought more locals on-air with “The Place We Live”;
Through the West Marin Report, the Monday environmental programs, and “Epicenter,” we highlighted local efforts on climate change and local resilience.

We have received a generous grant sponsored by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to re-build our website. The new site will be able to archive and podcast our excellent local talk programs, so listeners can ‘tune in’ at their leisure.

KWMR is a vital resource for building and sustaining community, standing ready to serve in time of emergency, airing locally relevant information and entertainment to listeners, creating a forum through which every voice can be heard. Our station offers instruction and experience in radio production and broadcasting skills to members of all ages.

Office and studios

And we also gratefully acknowledge our major donors, whose generosity is essential to maintaining the quality of KWMR's radio and internet offerings. A huge “thank you” to those of you in a position to provide this sort of support and who have done so last year.

As always, the key to our success is the 100-strong volunteer program hosts that provide our programming. They are KWMR's core, and all of our program hosts show a level of commitment, talent and excitement which remains essential to the growth and development of our station. The vitality and professionalism of this group provides a foundation upon which we are able to build annually.

Your contributions allow KWMR to maintain a dedicated staff and to service broadcasting and emergency equipment that makes this all possible. We thank all involved with this magical work in progress... the volunteers, listeners, members, donors, Board members and staff. Success is always a team effort and KWMR is certainly that!

Founding Friends

When staff members asked me to write a tribute to Kay Clements, I immediately hit the reply button, typed “yes,” and pressed send. But at once I was adrift. For if I was to be writing an article with Kay at the helm of KWMR, my words would come under her astute scrutiny. My final draft, before passing her keen editing eye and gaining her approval, would be returned at least three times for more work. For Kay is sharp, tough, and would put up with no nonsense, from me or anyone else, when it comes to what is best for KWMR. Always she has asked every one of us, to do what we do, better than ever before.

As part of the gang of fellows and gals who birthed and built KWMR FM radio, we jostled, stepped, mis-stepped and stepped again into the shoes that fit and became our positions. I don’t remember the question she asked across our shared upstairs office, only my response, “You are the boss Kay. It’s your call.” Kay grasped that baton and took it, raising the bar for us all as the station went on air and moved into the studio space that KWMR now calls home. She also knew for whom to set the bar at a level that promotes community over professionalism.

But Kay has organizational and business skills that the rest of us sorely lacked. She understands what needs to be done and fearlessly trod the path to an FCC license. She talks the language of engineers (!) and could tease and cajole them into volunteering their expertise and time to get us up broadcasting over the airwaves.

Kay has searched out and brought in grant monies from around the country, donations from closer to home, and twice every year led us in the incredibly exhausting yet exhilarating marathon that is our pledge drive to the community of KWMR listeners in and beyond West Marin. Over the years since pledge has begun, our support base has continued to rise.

Kay’s love of Americana roots music began her Wednesday night show, “Roadhouse Twang,” and then on alternate Saturdays, “Free Range Pickin’.” Like all of KWMRs DJ’s, her passion for the music she loves led her into greater knowledge and a better appreciation of what is good, what is special and what to bring to the airwaves of KWMR. She never missed. Kay traveled to festivals making the connections that have given us a unique library of American music. She recognizes local and distant talent and strives to promote and encourage its growth.

Kay and Aggie

The baton has been handed on from the few tight visionaries to embrace the larger community of local programmers and board members. The physical space is always tight, and always should be. The close jostling gives us strength as well as frustration. For once we enter the booth of Studio A we are alone, with the microphone and you the listener. Throughout those changes Kay has had her hand steady on the helm. Her open heart and shy welcome to the people who come through the station doors has kept the people coming back again and again. KWMR has become a unique and safe community center.

As geography, work and life move us from place to place, we look to the friends and colleagues we wish alongside us in hard times. Kay Clements has graced our lives as such a colleague and remains so as a friend.
